Conservative hopeful has six-point plan to address concerns

'I'll tackle pothole peril' says election candidate

By Eva Astrienidou

A CANDIDATE hoping to earn votes for the county council seat in May is vowing to carry out a six-point plan that includes improving the system for reporting and fixing potholes.

Liam Walker, the Conservative county council hopeful for Minster and Hanborough, visited Church Hanborough on Saturday to discuss potholes and raise awareness about how to report a problem and prevent any further damage in good time.

He spoke to residents about the app called 'Fix My Street', where users can report the potholes.

He said after the potholes are reported, they are marked white to represent lower priority, and red to mark them as high priority.

Walking around country lanes in the area, it was evident that potholes forming and causing potential damage was a major concern for the group.

Rosemary Lewis, a nearby resident who got in touch with Mr Walker to discuss the problem of potholes and arrange the meeting, said: "These small lanes around the village unfortunately become low priority. A double carriageway would be higher up on the priority list."

Pat Atweo, one of the residents who joined the meeting, pointed out a sizeable pothole outside her house. She said: "I am getting worried that it is going to collapse and we will be stuck at home."

Anthony Thompson, another resident, said: "I am not fussed about the cars but I am more worried about the cyclists. Hitting your suspension is one thing, coming off your bike is another. As a cyclist, we have to look forward, not down."

His wife Sally said: "Potholes appear overnight, so we can't predict it. I have hit some of them though and thought 'I don't like the sound of that'."

She added: "As more people come to live here, the more cars and the more traffic we get. Also, modern cars are heavier and bigger. We also have a lot of delivery cars that come through as their sat navs take them through these country lanes."

Mr Walker encouraged the group to take pictures and upload them. He said: "It's as simple as that. If you take a photo it speeds up the process and helps the county council track progress of the roads."

He added that if a pothole is reported, it should take up to four weeks to fix, depending on the level of priority.

A34 death crash driver: 'I deserve all that I get'

By Adam Flinn

"I'VE ruined a lot of people's lives, happiness, and I deserve everything I get whatever comes now."

Those are the words of Lewis Stratford, who is due to be sentenced tomorrow for causing the death of 28-year-old Gavin Roberts by dangerous driving after a crash near Compton on the A34 last June.

He was speaking to Mr Roberts' girlfriend Meg Williamson, in a meeting between the two broadcast on the BBC's Inside Out programme on Monday evening.

Miss Williamson arranged the meeting to "get some questions answered" about what happened on June 11 last year.

Stratford, of Field Avenue, Oxford, said during the exchange: "I know I caused a lot of pain for a lot of people, I know what I've done.

"I am sorry but I can't keep saying sorry because I know people don't want to hear it. Sorry's not going to make things better, ever."

Talking about the crash, Stratford, 24, said: "[My girlfriend] was on the phone as the crash happened and she just said she heard scraping and brakes screeching, and obviously the impact was quite loud.

"He (Mr Roberts) was just minding his own business that night, and that's what I think about all the time. He was just going to work, it makes me feel horrible."

Mr Roberts, an Australian who was living in Swindon, died four days after the crash.

Stratford appeared at Reading Crown Court on January 24 charged with causing death by dangerous driving, to which he pleaded guilty.

During the meeting, Stratford said he had been making an emotional call to his girlfriend at the time of the crash.

Miss Williamson said: "You start to feel that life feels normal, then you feel guilty because you're still here, and I've been suffering really badly with my anxiety.

"Getting onto that road is really difficult, but I have sisters who travel on it, friends that travel on it every single day, so it probably adds to my worry.

"I'm more conscious when I'm driving when I see other drivers on the road now, and if they're on their phone, I just think that they don't realise, and a lot of people just don't care because they don't think it's going to happen to them.

"I don't want to hate you forever, I'm not that type of person, and eventually I'll probably be able to forgive you, but I just needed some questions answering first."

• Gavin Roberts died in the crash on the A34 last summer

It comes after a change in the law that took effect yesterday which sees the punishment for being caught driving while using a mobile phone increase to six penalty points and a £200 fine.

This is double the current fixed penalty of a £100 fine and three points.

The crash was one of a number of high-profile incidents on the A34 over the past year that included the deaths of four people in August caused by a driver who was distracted by his phone. He was jailed for 10 years in October.

MPs debated improving safety on the A34 in Parliament in October, leading to measures being announced such as CCTV cameras, electronic signs, and vehicle detection loops that detect traffic levels.

The full interview is available to watch on Inside Out South on BBC iPlayer.

Bus drivers on strike over pay

OXFORD Bus company has announced two days of strike action after disputes over Christmas pay.

The company said that passengers are likely to face significant disruption to their travel today and Monday as a result of industrial action by Unite, but say they will make every effort to minimise inconvenience and continue to seek a swift resolution.

Unite has called its members out on strike in a dispute over pay arrangements for drivers over the Christmas 2016 period.

Some of the services that will either be highly restricted or cancelled include the city2, city3, city4B, the airline (only affecting the route to Birmingham airport), and park&ride500. Stagecoach will operate equivalent services for most of the routes affected.

School services 3B and 35A will operate as normal.

The bus company has said that in line with industry standards, drivers were paid premium rates for three bank holidays over the Christmas and New Year period.

Unite has asked for bank holiday pay over five days.

Average salary for drivers range from yearly earnings of £29,000 within the city and £34,000 on long-distance routes.

Oxford Bus Company has said that the demand for two extra bank holidays' pay would be likely to mean an increase in fares for its passengers.

• Wantage store director Nicky Rutter is delighted to have received the Platinum award

Optician's delight at award

AN OPTICIAN in Wantage has been awarded Platinum Employer Status in recognition of the store 'being a great place to work'.

Specsavers, based on Grove Street in Wantage, achieved accreditation after being assessed against five standards in different areas of an employees' experience.

Areas measured as part of the five stage process include performance management, recruitment, induction, talent management and rewards.

The Platinum Employer scheme was created to help support the recruitment and training of Specsavers staff across the country.

Nicky Rutter, store director for Wantage said: "It's great to have received platinum as it is a testament to the hard work we are putting in here to create a positive culture as well as our commitment to staff development."

RAF man is on cloud nine after winning scholarship

By George Welch

A BRIZE Norton man with a passion for flying is to take to the skies after receiving a 'once in a lifetime' flying scholarship.

Mark Middleton is one of just 30 serving RAF Regular and Reserve Junior Ranks (JRs) to receive the scholarship, which is the first step to fulfilling his dream of becoming a professional pilot.

The 24-year-old applied for the RAF Flying Clubs' Association (RAFFCA) Junior Rank Pilot Scholarship Scheme (JRPSS), which will enable him to receive 15 hours of flying training with the view to achieving a Light Aircraft Pilot's Licence (LAPL).

SAC Middleton, from RAF Brize Norton, applied for the scheme as he's always had a passion for flying.

He said: "I've had previous experience flying but it is an expensive hobby so when an opportunity arises like this you don't hesitate in applying.

"It's a once in a lifetime chance, for which I am extremely grateful."

Mark's flying instruction will begin in April at a selected RAF Flying Club and once he has successfully completed the scholarship, he can apply for another scheme that provides additional funding to continue flying training.

When he has completed the scheme, Mark hopes to continue flying, building up his air hours and experience with a view to gaining more qualifications and fulfil his dream of one day becoming a professional pilot.

As part of the training, Mark will be able to use the RAF's new DA 42 Diamond Star Simulator.

Justine Morton, a director of the RAF Charitable Trust (RAFCT), which is sponsoring the scholarship, said: "I'd like to say a big congratulations to Mark and those who were selected for this year's scholarship intake.

> "It's a once in a lifetime chance, for which I am extremely grateful"

"They have a very exciting few months ahead of them and I wish them the best of luck.

"The trust sponsors the JRPSS each year to provide more flying opportunities for young personnel who otherwise may not get the chance.

"The success of the scheme over the past two years shows the difference this funding can make to the lives of our JRs, as well as highlighting just how much appetite there is for youngsters to get involved in aviation."

To be in with a chance of receiving the training, applicants had to prove that they had the 'right credentials' for the scholarship, as well as demonstrate their thirst to improve their knowledge of aviation and to experience what it's like to get airborne.

This year's scholarship received a record total of 468 applications.

RAFFCA project officer Flight Lieutenant Chris Hives said: "It's great to see so many young people with an interest in aviation getting excited about the scheme, and this meant that the competition for this year's JRPSS was tougher than ever.

"All of this year's scholars should be extremely proud to have got through such a robust selection process."

The scholarship was launched in 2015 to improve the airmindedness of junior ranks.

The scheme has already benefited 40 personnel, with the ambition of supporting 100 scholars through the scheme by 2018 – the RAF's centenary year.

'It doesn't seem enough'

• From front page

In December, the Department for Transport (DfT) announced a £70m fund to fix potholes across the country and revealed Oxfordshire would benefit from £1,315,000 – enough to fix almost 25,000 potholes.

At the time, West Oxfordshire District councillor for Witney, Duncan Enright, said the provision is not enough.

In response to being told the figure, the Labour candidate in Witney's October by-election said: "Is that all – [that] doesn't sound like enough."

Leader's tribute

WITNEY: West Oxfordshire Council leader James Mills has paid tribute to his Cotswold counterpart who is stepping down after 11 years.

Cllr Lynden Stowe will hand over the leadership of Cotswold District Council in May.

Cllr Mills said: "I wish Lynden every success for the future. His legacy is significant and I look forward to seeing it develop further."

During his 11 years at the helm council tax has been kept low, while recycling rates are high and significant work has been carried out in key areas such as flood prevention."

Cllr Stowe said: "Working closely with other authorities such as West Oxfordshire has enabled us to make significant savings without any detriment to the quality of our services."

CHIPPING NORTON: Police have released CCTV images of people they want to speak to following a burglary.

The force said five people entered a newsagents in Chipping Norton at around 10.30am on January 30.

Some of the group distracted the shopkeeper while one of them snuck upstairs to the flat above the shop and stole a safe containing a passport and cash.

Calls for transparency on cuts to healthcare

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE County Council has called for transparency and further detail about knock-on effects of plans to change primary care from the group that commissions health services across the county.

The county's cabinet said in a meeting on Tuesday last week that it cannot support the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group's (OCCG) plans to deal with a £134m funding gap in the region's NHS.

The first phase of consultation on the plans for the future of Oxfordshire Health and Care Services started on January 16.

In the meeting, members of the cabinet reviewed the consultation and referred to a lack of forward thinking in the sustainability and transformation plan (STP), in that a change in one amenity could lead to a wider 'domino effect'.

In a post-meeting report, the response was that the plans, which include a change in bed-stock, intensive care services and maternity services at the Horton General Hospital could have a significant knock-on effect on other services.

The councillors resolved: "These possible impacts are not covered by this consultation.

"This is a vital issue for local people and is therefore a serious deficiency in the consultation document."

They said they understand the concept of closing hospital bed stock to help prevent admission and also help to reduce harmful long stays, but added: "The UK already has lower numbers of beds than comparable European countries.

"At a time when pressures on emergency departments are rising and delayed transfers of care remain a cause for concern, it may be premature to make these changes.

"It may be more sensible for Oxfordshire to adopt a 'wait and see' policy on this issue until the impact of bed closures proposed in other parts of the country can be properly evaluated."

On the topic of adult social care in the community and the proposals of focusing on care closer to home, they said: "There are times in the acute phase of an illness or in cases requiring complex care or post-op care when a hospital bed may be the best place to be.

Again, the proposals do not contain the detail we would need about community services for us to have a sensible understanding of their impact on adult social care."

The cabinet also concluded that the production of the consultation underwent a significant delay that could have in turn affected the coherence of the proposals.

They added: "It makes the consultation feel less transparent to communities. The consultation proposals as they stand are unlikely to satisfy the concerns of people in some parts of the county."

The report added that with the addition of 100,000 homes within Oxfordshire in the period 2011-31, of which around 85,000 remain to be built, that the NHS proposals "should take full account of the scale of new housing".

A spokeswoman for Oxfordshire CCG said: "The CCG is currently seeking people's views and opinions on the plans for transformation of health services in Oxfordshire.

"Our consultation will listen to feedback from everyone who gets involved, including cabinet members at Oxfordshire County Council."

The updated version of the OCCG proposals will be presented to the county council on March 21 to gather further comment.

Close shave for Chris

COTSWOLD Wildlife Park handed out quite a treat to global charity Make-A-Wish.

On February 23, the Make-A-Wish Foundation visited the park for a cheque presentation by the penguin keeper, Chris Green.

Mr Green recently raised £1,717.50 by shaving off his beard that he was growing for three years for his favourite charity, and presented them with the cheque in the penguin enclosure.

He said: "I'm really touched by people's generosity and want to thank everyone who supported me and donated to this incredible charity. I'm already plotting my next fundraising venture and if anyone has any great ideas, please get in touch!"

Jodie Sabin from Make-A-Wish said: "Chris has a raised a fantastic amount of money for Make-A-Wish and we are really grateful to him for everything he has done.

"The money raised will go towards granting magical wishes for children living with life threatening illnesses and we simply wouldn't be able to do this work without the amazing support from people like Chris."

E-fit released

BICESTER: An e-fit image has been released after a woman was sexually assaulted in Bicester two weeks ago.

Police would like to speak to a man who matches the description of the e-fit (pictured below) in connection with the sexual assault.

The incident took place at around 8.50pm on Thursday, February 16 when a woman in her 30s was walking in Chapel Street when she saw a man approaching her.

The man then spoke to the victim and sexually assaulted her before running away in the direction of Priory Road.

Banbury CID are appealing to anyone who recognises the man depicted in the e-fit or who has further information.

Detective Ruth Ivins of Banbury CID said: "Specially trained officers are continuing to offer their support to the victim and detectives are working to locate the offender."

Call police on 101.

• The explosion at the block of flats in Gibbs Crescent on February 14 (Picture by Alexander Hammonds)

Police conclude on-site investigations

By George Welch

POLICE officers have left the scene of an explosion in west Oxford after completing their on-site investigations.

Thames Valley Police confirmed on Thursday last week that it had completed its work at Gibbs Crescent as investigations move away from the site of destruction where a three-storey block of flats was flattened.

At around 4.45pm on February 14, emergency services were called to Gibbs Crescent, following an explosion and fire.

Following the Valentine's Day blast, a multi-agency operation was launched to make the area safe and to carry out investigation work.

A post-mortem examination into human remains found in the rubble of the collapsed block of flats has proved 'inconclusive', police have said.

Emergency crews have scoured the rubble near the marina and the remains are believed to be that of 'missing' man Guido Schuette.

The force issued a public appeal for the 48-year-old, who officially remains missing, on February 9.

Mr Schuette's family has been informed and are continuing to be offered support from officers.

Thames Valley Police neighbourhood officers have been patrolling Gibbs Crescent to offer support to residents.

The force last week launched a recovery co-ordination group, which will be headed up by Oxford City Council and the site has been handed over to Oxford City Council and housing association A2Dominion.

A2Dominion has a site office and support officers to assist residents who have remained at Gibbs Crescent, and ongoing support is being given by A2D to those who have been displaced by this incident.

Tim Sadler, city council's executive director for community services, who is chairing the recovery co-ordination group, said: "The group will include representatives from the police, A2D, social care, the NHS and other agencies if and when necessary.

"Its role is to oversee and co-ordinate the return of the area to a state of normality as quickly and safely as possible, and to coordinate responses to the needs of residents who have been affected by the emergency."

Fleeing Oxford raises £13k for charity

OXFORD students travelled more than 27,000 miles in 36 hours raising over £12,800 for charities.

The 27 teams set off at 6am on Saturday with no money and relying only on the goodwill of passers by to help them get as far away as possible.

Two of this year's jailbreakers have raised £1,007.66, reaching Louvain-la-Neuve in Belgium.

Third year students Eleanor Holt and Chevonne van Rhee set off on their challenge with very little else than the goal to get as far away from Oxford as possible by 6pm on Sunday.

The pair had no money, tickets, or passes, but just 36 hours to complete their challenge.

They were busy in the run-up to the big day, collecting more than £500 from their bake sale on February 21, and featuring on the radio the very same day.

All the cash raised goes straight to charity and half of the cash to charities based in Oxford.

The charities to receive the donations are Oxford Homeless Pathways, Oxford Sexual Abuse and Rape Crisis, Student Minds, and the Schistosomiasis Control Initiative.

• Eleanor Holt and Chevonne van Rhee managed to get to Belgium without any cash as part of the Oxford jailbreak

Before embarking on the challenge, they said: "We are inspired by the work of these charities, and think they are hugely deserving of your support.

"Obviously these are quite big targets, so at the moment we are trying to raise as much awareness as possible.

"We think it's a fantastic and pretty unusual opportunity to raise money and much-needed awareness for four really deserving charities, so at the moment we're mostly excited, if a little apprehensive about the size of the challenge we've set ourselves.

"But we think getting even close to those goals would be really worthwhile."

Jailbreak is RAG's biggest event of the year, with past students reaching all over the UK, Europe, and beyond, from Poland to Budapest to Istanbul, to Tokyo and South Africa.

Funding boost leads to Fun on the Farm

By Eva Astreinidou

A CHARITY bidding to establish a working community-based farm in Oxford is celebrating after receiving more than £3,000 from the Big Lottery Fund to run a community event later this year.

Oxford City Farm said it was "delighted" to receive a large cheque of £3,018.50 to help organise their Fun on the Farm community event on October 8.

The group was the last in England to receive funding from the Big Lottery Fund's Celebrate programme, which aims to help local groups hold events or activities to bring people together and celebrate what makes their community 'special'.

The project aims to change a brownfield site on Cornwallis Road into a farm that works with the community including schools, educating them about food, farming and the future.

Sally Mullard, volunteer fundraising co-ordinator for Oxford City Farm, said: "We're delighted to have received this funding.

"The focus for the day will be on celebrating all the work our volunteers, steering group and supporters have put into securing a wonderful new green space for the local community.

"We have lots of fun food-related activities planned including bring-a-plate picnic, apple pressing, music, and craft activities for kids and lots more.

"It will also be a great opportunity for local people to see the site and share their ideas about how the farm will develop."

The funding will also help the farm to build two toilets for the site and employ an event co-ordinator and community artist to help organise and run the event.

The trustees of Oxford City Farm also announced the signing of a 40-year lease on a 2.3 acre piece of land in the Florence Park area of East Oxford last week.

The group said: "The lease enables us to get on the land and get stuck into the work of bringing city farming to Oxford."

Burglars with machete being sought by cops

A PAIR of raiders armed with a machete kicked in a Bampton man's door and stole his shotguns.

The victim, a man in his 30s, told police he was alone in his Station Road home when a man knocked on his door at around 10.20pm on February 19.

He was on the phone at the time and saw the man through the window, but did not answer.

About 10 minutes later his front door was kicked in and the intruder, armed with a machete, threatened the victim and 'demanded items', police said.

The machete-wielding burglar, a white man, was then joined by a black man, described as around 6ft tall with dreadlocks.

Police said the white man was wearing a dark woolly hat with a scarf around his face, a dark coat with the hood pulled up, khaki or blue trousers and bright yellow running shoes.

The pair stole three shotguns and cartridges, before driving off in a small dark-coloured hatchback car.

The victim was not hurt.

Det Insp Richard Pickering, from Banbury Force CID, said: "I understand the theft of these items may cause concern in the community, but there is no information to suggest the stolen items will be used in connection with a particular incident."

Contact police on 101.

Campaign urging men to talk about mental problems

By Eva Astrienidou

AN MP is backing a five-year campaign by Time to Change that aims to 'break the cycle' of men feeling unable to talk about mental health issues, after alarming figures reveal that suicide is the biggest killer in males under 45.

On Thursday last week, Time to Change launched their new five-year campaign In Your Corner, which urges friends to help their mates talk about mental health issues and be a person they can confide in.

Men are three times more likely to die by suicide than women.

Writing for The Huffington Post, Nicola Blackwood, MP and minister for public health and innovation, said: "The human cost is unacceptable and shows the need for swift action and a renewed focus at all levels – from central and local government, from charities and voluntary organisations."

The Oxford West and Abingdon member added: "Talking about mental health issues can be daunting. I have seen first-hand how important it is to have someone they can confide in and trust."

She added: "I am determined that our mental health services are also somewhere people feel they can reach out to for help.

"We now have strengthened our cross-Government suicide prevention strategy, which specifically targets those most at risk like young and middle-aged men. We have worked with local authorities to make sure that every local area has a suicide prevention strategy in place by the end of 2017.

"So far 95 per cent of local authorities have or are developing one, which is a big step forward."

Jo Loughran, director of operations at Time to Change, said: "Our research clearly shows that mental health problems are just not on the radar for men.

"However, we also know that men feel strongly about brotherhood and friendship and can play a vital role in looking out for their friends' mental health and wellbeing.

"We want to show that being in your friend's corner doesn't have to be difficult or awkward. Breaking the cycle of men feeling unable to reach out has never been more urgent. We need to help men realise they can make a real difference, even change someone's life."

Dan Knowles, CEO at Oxfordshire Mind, said: "We are deeply saddened with the most recent data and the ongoing trend in male suicide rates. Suicide in every age and gender bracket is a tragedy, and more work must be done to understand those people at risk. Of course, we will continue to support them when they need it.

"We were pleased with the Prime Minister's announcement earlier in the year surrounding the need for mental health reform and hope this will have an impact on these statistics."

In January, PM Theresa May committed to making mental health care a priority for this government.

Get your orange juices flowing

HELP Oxfordshire go orange this month and raise funds for Helen & Douglas House.

The charity, which helps terminally ill young people and their families, is asking individuals, groups, schools, colleges and businesses from across the county to Go Orange #hdhorange and to do something fun and eye-catching to raise vital funds for the charity.

It could be anything from orange dress-down days to hair-dying, orange-themed suppers and decorated cupcakes. The more imaginative, bigger and brighter the idea the better!

Currently 50 small to medium businesses are getting behind Go Orange, including businesses in Magdalen Road, where the hospice is located.

Support the Oxfordshire Guardian's charity of the year – Play2Give

Team set to take on monster of a race

By George Welch

A TEAM of five will tackle the might of next month's Monster Race to support our charity of the year, Play2Give, in its 10th anniversary year.

Leaseguard Group Ltd, based at Unipart House in Garsington Road, Cowley, Oxford, has assembled a squad to defeat the mighty obstacle assault run at Cornbury Park in west Oxfordshire on April 1.

Funds raised will help P2G support local people in need.

The contract lifecycle management company, which has been running for 25 years, helps NHS Trusts generate savings on their maintenance and leasing contracts.

The team, led by Lee Edwards, from Didcot, also includes Lesley Saunders, Jonathan Wickens, and husband and wife pair Charlie and Martyn Sadler. They hope to raise £400.

The Monster Race will involve the fabulous five taking on a range of obstacles in 5k or 10k races, which all include lots of mud and water, and the bog of eternal stench.

Lee, who has been friends with P2G's founder Andrew Baker, from Didcot, since they met in 2008, said: "Andrew's an inspiration. We are all honoured to take part in the gruelling challenge to support him and this fantastic cause.

"Andrew has worked tirelessly (with the support of others) to raise extraordinary amounts of money.

"There have been some really fantastic initiatives, such as football tournaments that I have had the pleasure of playing in. Andrew's energy and dedication despite his own challenges never cease to amaze."

P2G has raised £55,670 for a catalogue of local charities since Andrew formed the fundraising organisation in September 2007. Of this, the children's hospital has benefited from more than £40,000.

Born with a brain injury, Andrew has been raising money for charity since the age of 14 in 2003 when he was inspired by treatment he received. He had major brain surgery aged 12 for a tumour that developed following a head injury four years earlier.

The funds Leaseguard raise will go into P2G's £10k in 10 appeal this year as part of its 10th anniversary charity campaign.

The Children's Hospital at the John Radcliffe and brain injury charity Headway Oxfordshire will also benefit from the Monster Run.

To sponsor the Leaseguard team, visit tinyurl.com/z5sj98w.

P2G has already raised over £1,900 in its £10k in 10 appeal. To donate, visit tinyurl.com/zksd8xx.

Hospital honour for P2G

A ROOM at Oxford Children's Hospital (Chox) will be named in honour of Play2Give (P2G) and unveiled next week as testament to the charity's decade of efforts.

The room at Melanie's Ward was due to be opened under its new name yesterday, with celebrations to mark the contribution of P2G coinciding with the charity's 10th anniversary year.

The P2G room is on Melanie's Ward, where teenagers stay at the hospital.

To name the room, the charity had to raise £40,000.

Now the hospital is recognising the charity's 'long term contribution and philanthropy' after the organisation's years of support.

Andrew Baker, founder of the charity, said: "It was a lovely sentiment for Play2Give's efforts to be valued and recognised in such a special way.

"Never did we think we would achieve this, so to see it become 'real' in that the name of the organisation becomes a lasting legacy is truly the proudest and most amazing achievement in both that of P2G and my fundraising's history."

Speaking of future plans with the hospital, Andrew said the charity will continue to fundraise to help provide the very best and the latest medical equipment and facilities "above and beyond NHS standards".

He also mentioned that the accolade was extra special as Mya, 14, who is the daughter of P2G's Dale Harris, will benefit from the room throughout her teenage years.

P2G has raised funds through events, by taking part in fun runs and through campaigns like Sleigh2Give, which aims to bring joy and Christmas cheer to the young patients.

Andrew added: "We are truly thankful to the hospital charity and the ward for giving us this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. It isn't just given to anyone."

Roads cash boost for 'vulnerable'

A TOTAL of £239,000 has been awarded to Oxfordshire for schemes to improve road journeys and help reduce congestion.

The funds were granted by the Department of Transport and will help provide real-time parking information for Blue Badge holders, as well as support for people with disabilities.

The amount is part of £4m awarded to 19 councils for technology that will improve road travel through apps and sensors, with the capacity to give motorists advance notice of congestion and notify them of free parking spaces.

The technology could be used to cut congestion and improve parking in city centres.

John Howell MP for Henley, said: "It is good to see Oxfordshire getting one of the highest bids for projects. I am sure these will make a big difference to travellers and it is good to see technology being brought into use at an early stage."

Roads minister Andrew Jones MP, said: "I congratulate the cutting-edge, innovative ideas. Technology is rapidly evolving and this important work shows that if we get it right, it can cut congestion, speed up journeys, clean up the environment and improve accessibility."

Ponds to spice up park

• Volunteers count fish as part of an earlier Wild Banbury project

By Samantha McGregor

A WILDLIFE charity wants to build three ponds to improve Spiceball Park in Banbury.

Berkshire, Buckinghamshire and Oxfordshire Wildlife Trust, BBOWT, has submitted proposals to create the water features on rough grassland.

One will include a pond dipping deck as well as educational signs aimed at getting local people involved in nature. The area will also be used for outdoor learning sessions by local schools.

BBOWT has teamed up with Banbury Town Council to create Wild Banbury, a volunteer group aimed at improving wildlife areas across the town.

The project has been funded through grants from Heritage Lottery Fund, Grundon Waste Management, Banbury town and Cherwell district councils.

If the planning application is approved work on the first two larger ponds could start this summer.

In a report, BBOWT said Spiceball Park did not have any ponds that were separate to the River Cherwell.

It said: "Ponds have rich flora and fauna and provide habitat for a variety of species such as amphibians and invertebrates.

"They also have the potential to attract and support legally protected species such as great crested newts and various bat species.

"The new wildlife ponds will not be stocked with fish, therefore they will be able to support breeding populations of amphibians.

"All works will be undertaken in as environmentally sensitive a way as possible."

Assault charges

BICESTER: Two people have been charged after four people were allegedly assaulted at a house in Hamilton Close on February 18.

Fergie Suika, 19, from Lena Crescent, Enfield, London, faces four counts of assault by beating, and a 16-year-old boy, also from London, has been charged with one count.

Both have appeared at Banbury Magistrates' Court. Suika was remanded in custody and the juvenile released on conditional bail.

Could you help teach a child to read?

EVEN in an area such as Oxfordshire, many children have trouble reading, but help is at hand through a volunteering charity.

ARCh Oxfordshire helps hundreds of youngsters each year by finding volunteers to work with them in schools and help bring the joy of reading to them.

Teachers choose the children most in need of help – some have lost confidence, are shy or don't communicate well, others don't speak English at home and some just need a boost to help them catch up.

ARCh – Assisted Reading for Children in Oxfordshire – recruits, trains and supports volunteers in primary schools through individual sessions each week with their volunteer helper.

Volunteers aim to make children feel happy reading and to think of it as something they can enjoy.

As well as reading they play word, board and memory games and draw – all things designed to help boost their confidence.

But the charity is now looking for more volunteers to help the project with training schemes on March 7 and 8 and May 9 and 10.

Volunteers are expected to help in a primary school for one-and-a-half hours twice a week – after attending two training sessions – and commit to helping at a school for a year.

ARCh is looking for volunteers to help in Oxford city – particularly the Cowley, Littlemore, Blackbird Leys areas – and in Witney, Abingdon, Didcot, Bicester and Banbury.

They are also asking companies to get involved – working in partnership with ARCh will combine staff development with community outreach, using an established training and placement programme to achieve maximum impact in terms of staff development, staff morale and community perception, all while helping youngsters read.

For more information on volunteering, go to their website: archoxfordshire.org.uk.

What a difference a book makes

AFTER a hugely enjoyable 40-year career spent in professional communications, last summer I decided to 'step off the business run mill', writes David Jones.

My 'retirement plan' was like all good communications – uncomplicated and unambiguous. More time spent pursuing my hobbies of watching sport, keeping fit, travelling and reading.

I deemed I would 'put a bit back into the community' through volunteering and literacy was an area where I'd always felt I could best use my skills and experience. But where should I start?

I warmed to the idea of working with an adult learning group, attracted by the thought of helping people who leave school with little or no reading and writing skills.

But if adult literacy groups offer hope of a cure for illiteracy, I couldn't help feeling that helping children to read before they leave school can actively prevent the problem – and prevention is always better than cure!

So when I learned that ARCh provide Assisted Reading for Children in more than 100 primary schools throughout my home county I knew that this was the volunteering opportunity I'd been looking for.

I was unashamedly excited by the prospect of belonging to an organisation that is dedicated to making a lasting difference to the lives of children in Oxfordshire by inspiring them to discover the joy of reading.

After completing ARCh's training support programme, I was seconded to a school in Wallingford where I was introduced to the Year Five boys who have become my Three Musketeers.

Two were 'reluctant readers' who lacked confidence while the other was said to "bark at print" and show little interest in books. In the three months we've read together, reading confidence has improved noticeably to the point where they happily read aloud in class.

The boy who barked at print – what a great book title that would make – has, to our mutual delight, read six books including a 300-page novel.

Becoming a volunteer reader is truly one of the most inspiring and rewarding things I have ever done. And to think, I never really believed the adage that our schooldays are the best time of our lives.

Thanks to ARCh – I do now!

Get In the Mood for great music

NOT many bands play a variety of music from Abba to Glenn Miller but that's exactly what you can expect from a concert in Banbury.

The John Cleveland Band is an ensemble of 16-20 talented musicians who can please most music lovers, playing music from stage, screen, pop and more.

Their warm and personal interaction with their audience, together with an excellent standard of performance, make for a great night of entertainment for all at St Mary's Church on Saturday.

Based in Hinckley, Leicestershire, the John Cleveland Band play extensively in nearby Northamptonshire and further afield, including Europe. Performances include concerts and dinner dances of a private and charitable nature.

Having started in 1976 as an extra-curricular activity at the John Cleveland College school, they evolved into an adult band and have just celebrated their 40th year.

Tickets for Eric Darlington with the John Cleveland Band are £10. They are on sale at St Mary's Box Office (01295 253329 between 9.45 and 11am, Monday to Friday), Banbury Tourist Information Centre (01295 753752), and also on 07410 550649.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and ends around 10pm.

Landlord slapped with £20,000 fine over poor housing

By Eva Astreinidou

AN OXFORD landlord has been served with a large bill after being caught running an unlicensed and poorly managed house in multiple occupation (HMO).

Asad Shazad, 37, of Cross Street, was fined £20,000 when he appeared before Oxford Magistrates' Court on Tuesday last week. Costs added another £1,695 to his bill.

An environmental health officer from Oxford City Council visited the property on Moorbank in Blackbird Leys in July last year and found the two-storey property being occupied by six people.

The house was found to be poorly maintained and the landlord had failed to take the necessary fire safety precautions that are required in an HMO.

Shazad was found guilty of four breaches of the HMO management regulations and fined £2,000 per breach, including failing to display his details in a prominent location within the property or taking the necessary fire safety precautions.

He was also fined £12,000 for the operation of an unlicensed HMO.

Councillor Alex Hollingsworth, board member for planning and regulatory services at the city council, said: "I'm delighted that the courts have imposed a substantial fine in this case to deter other landlords from renting out unlicensed and unsafe properties."

Kebab team are van-tastic

THAME-BASED Atalay Kebab has beaten the competition to win a top prize at the British Kebab Awards.

The event, at a swanky ceremony in London on Sunday, awarded Turkish-born Russel Atalay the prestigious Kebab Van of the Year title.

The High Street van was founded by Russel in 1988. The business is now being run by his two sons. It was nominated by fast food enthusiast Dom Stanway-Williams, who decided to travel around the world in search for a taste better than his hometown doner kebab.

After being nominated the van received huge praise from users of the Kebab Awards website who were blown away by Atalay's lamb kebab.

Work begins on new homes at Bretch Hill

By Samantha McGregor

WORK to build new homes at the site of a former church in Bretch Hill is set to start after a £1.44m contract was awarded.

A total of 11 new two and three-bedroom homes will be constructed at The Fairway, in Hope Close, Banbury.

The homes will be part of the council's Build! Programme, a self-build scheme to help North Oxfordshire residents get on to the housing ladder.

It comes after Cherwell District Council appointed Edgar Taylor (Buckingham) Limited to build the shared ownership homes.

The council's executive approved the contract last month.

Cherwell acquired the land from the Trustees for Methodist Church Purposes as part of a development agreement for the site.

It included demolition of the old Fairway Methodist Church and provision of a replacement building, which has now been completed.

Cllr John Donaldson, Cherwell's lead member for housing, said: "This land had become a large derelict site, with a disused church at the front and untended land to the rear.

"Through the Build! project we have been able to bring this land back into use; the church now once again serving members of the community, while the homes will provide affordable housing at a great location in Banbury.

"Now the works for the church are complete, we have appointed Edgar Taylor to carry out the next stage of the development. Once works are complete, we will be able to hand over these properties to their future owners who will be able to put the finishing touches and create their very own dream home."

The shared ownership homes will be sold on a 'self-finish' basis whereby buyers get a discount on the market value in return for completing the homes. This ranges from fitting bathrooms and kitchens to decorating and hanging doors and skirting board.

These homes will be built to Passivhaus standards, which includes eco measures and improved insulation to help reduce heating costs.

The development is being carried out in two phases. Phase one, which has already begun, includes the 11 building's substructure, the provision of utilities and an estate road.

The contract approved last week paves the way for the completion of the development's superstructure as part of phase two.

Sean Woodcock, Banbury Labour group leader, said: "I am very pleased with this development and look forward to it.

"The key will be insuring that property infrastructure is in place and that contributions from the developer are sufficient for what the area needs."

Fresh appeal for missing man

• Mark Robinson

POLICE have issued a fresh appeal for information about a man who has been missing from his Oxfordshire home since last month.

Mark Robinson, aged 53, from Crowell, in Chinnor, was last seen on Thursday, January 26, at about 7am in Chinnor Road.

He was wearing a suit and a grey overcoat and carrying a black leather shoulder bag.

He is described as white, 6ft tall, of medium build, with balding grey hair.

Mark has access to a grey Mazda 3 vehicle and may have travelled to West Yorkshire, West Midlands, Cumbria, Lancashire or Scotland.

PC Neil McGrath said Mr Robinson's family was "extremely worried for his welfare".

He said: "The force has still not been able to make contact with Mark since he went missing last month.

"We are urging motorists to keep a look out for anyone matching the description of Mark Robinson driving a grey Mazda 3.

"Mark, if you see this appeal, please make contact with Thames Valley Police so we can let your friends and family know you are safe and well."

Anyone with information about Mr Robinson should call 101.

Camera clue to raid on newsagent

• Police would like information on the people in these CCTV images

POLICE have released security camera images after a newsagent's flat was burgled.

Five people went into the shop in West Street, Chipping Norton, where some of the group "distracted" the owner while others crept upstairs to a flat.

They broke in and stole a safe containing cash and an undisclosed amount of money.

Police said all members of the group then left the shop.

The incident happened at about 10.30am on Monday, January 30, however, the CCTV footage has only just been released by police.

They are appealing for anyone with any information about the burglary or anyone who recognises the people shown in the image to contact PC Adam Clark.

Call 101 and quote the reference 43170029091, or alternatively ring Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

EastEnders actor a late developer

By James Richings

FROM villain to down-to-earth dad, Larry Lamb has played a real mix of characters.

The 69-year-old is probably best known for portraying the evil Archie Mitchell on EastEnders and Mick in Gavin & Stacey, and will be sharing his story when he arrives at The Beacon in Wantage on Friday, March 10.

But instead of telling the Portway audience what he thinks they want to hear, Larry comes to Oxfordshire with a different approach.

"My life has had an extraordinary range of facets," he said.

"So the evening depends on what people really want to know because I'm going to base the night on questions that I want the audience to ask me.

"I've spent a lot of time answering people's questions and I find it a more direct approach in connecting with them.

"For about 50 years I've found my way living around the world doing what I do and other things that I did before – there's a lot to talk about."

Some things though will be off limits: "Obviously, I'll be a bit worried if they want to know too much about me but I wrote a book about my life in 2010 which came out in 2011.

"I exposed as much of my personal life as I can – so if they want to know stuff that's really personal, they should read the book."

Larry will talk about life before the world of entertainment – from working in the waste paper business, to being an unsuccessful salesman, then a construction worker before working in the oil business. But it was one day in Canada in his late 20s/early 30s that changed his life.

He also advised any aspiring actor to 'have a second string to their bow', as he believes the world is 'over populated with actors'.

"I certainly didn't want to go into acting when I was a kid," Larry told the Guardian.

"Somebody suggested to me that I should be an actor but I had never really thought about it before to be honest with you.

"I had no ambition to be one.

"But this person took me to an amateur theatre group where I decided to have a go. I found out it was something that I liked, so it gradually became a hobby.

"So it was through amateur theatre that I got involved in the entertainment business."

He added: "I think the important thing to remember is that you can love and enjoy acting without doing it for a living.

"But if you figure out that being an actor is what you want to do for a job, you better be aware that probably 90 per cent of actors are unemployed at any one time, anywhere in the world.

"The entertainment business should come with a great big warning sign on it – it's not for the faint hearted."

Tickets cost £16 and it starts at 8pm.

Anything but the Blues

One of Reading's most popular cover bands will be gigging in Oxford next week.

Jukes Blues, who first formed in 2008, will perform at The White House on Abingdon Road on Saturday, March 11, where they'll showcase some of the finest blues tunes from years gone by.

The five-piece will also show off some of their self-penned tracks and hope their debut gig at the venue will go down a storm.

When discussing the band's name, keyboardist George Darling said, "The band's name is meant to convey that while the blues underpins what we do we have broad tastes in music.

"We don't want to be pigeonholed too much, hence the allusion to the variation you might find in a jukebox.

Jukes Blues are made up of vocalist Laura Jones, George Darling on the keyboards, guitarist Mike Bishop, Chris Curtis on the bass and drummer Mike Goff.

"You could say that three of the band (Mike B, Mike G and Chris) are full-time musicians since they have all retired from the day job," George jokingly told the Guardian.

"But Laura and myself aren't.

"Laura is a manager in the retail part of Oxfam, and I'm a geoscientist with the Natural Environment Research Council."

The free gig starts at 9pm.

Fred just wants to be human

By James Richings

FRED is just like you and me – he has legs, arms and feelings but is constantly faced with bigotry from humans.

But Fred the puppet has plans to end the prejudice when Meet Fred comes to the Old Fire Station in Oxford on Thursday, March 9.

Performed by the Hijinx Theatre Company, the production comes to the George Street venue as part of a small tour across the UK, after it's successful spell at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival last year.

And unlike many shows, Hijinx have hired actors with disabilities.

"We are an inclusive theatre company so therefore all our productions include learning disabled performers," artistic director Ben Pettitt-Wade told the Guardian.

"To support this we have a network of academies throughout Wales that train our performers in all sorts of skills to help them become professional performers.

"We develop all our shows in collaboration with the students on our academies."

Ben explained the production: "We focus on a guy called Fred who is a puppet and we look at the difficulties he faces in life because of that.

"It is also about who has control and power over Fred's life.

"We play with the parallel of the relationship Fred has with his puppeteers, in needing them simply to function, and the relationship many people with learning disability have with support workers which help them to live more independent lives.

"We then explore what can happen if this support is taken away, as it has been recently from many disabled people as their support packages have been cut back."

The story was a big hit at the Fringe last summer with many empathizing with Fred, despite the protagonist not even being a human.

And despite the puppeteers being clearly visible when Fred is on stage, Ben has no doubt that the Oxford audience will ignore them, and look at Fred as his own person.

"To be honest with you, the audience are very quick to recognise Fred in his own right, and feel a genuine empathy for him as he faces his struggles," he said.

"If they did not believe in him they would not feel that empathy.

"That said, puppetry is an extremely hard skill to master and we worked extremely hard during rehearsals to get it to the level it is at, to ensure that Fred was as much a part of the cast as the other actors."

He added: "I hope the audience come away having had a great evening having laughed a lot, but also having learnt something about how difficult life can be if the vital support you need is taken from you.

"I hope they leave a little bit angry about that.

Tickets cost £15 and it starts at 7.45pm.

Meet Fred is suitable for over 14s.

Putting the X Factor into Saturday night

MUSIC: Former X Factor winner Sam Bailey will be gigging at the New Theatre on Saturday.

The 39-year-old, who won the talent show in 2013, arrives at the George Street venue to perform tracks off her upcoming album Sing My Heart Out.

Tickets cost from £7.40 to £32.40.

Return visit for Vant

MUSIC: Indie rock band Vant will return to gig in Oxford on Sunday..

The four-piece will perform at the O2 Academy, 16 months after their set at the Bullingdon.

Vant will showcase tracks off their debut album Dumb Blood, which was released last month.

Doors open at 7pm and tickets cost £12.37.

Family fun flick

FILM: The latest Disney animated movie will be screened at The Beacon in Wantage on Saturday.

Moana, which stars Dwayne Johnson and Nicole Scherzinger, focuses on the title character who has been chosen to save the people on her island, which has recently been cursed.

Tickets £3, starts at 11am.

Stornoway set to bow out

By James Richings

IT will be the end of an era when Stornoway gig at the New Theatre.

The four-piece alternative indie folk group from Oxford will conclude their farewell UK tour at the George Street venue next Sunday in front of what is expected to be a packed crowd.

So to give the group the perfect send off, keyboardist Jon Ouin revealed that the band didn't compile their final set list.

"We actually had a vote amongst our fans as to which of our songs they wanted us to play," Jon told the Guardian.

"So in terms of songs, they'll know roughly what to expect, but we're also aiming to pull the stops out in various other top secret ways and go out with a bang.

"And don't forget, it will be our last ever gig, so we will attempt to make it into a proper celebration of a decade we've had playing together."

Named after the town on the Isle of Lewis, Stornoway were formed after guitarist, lyricist and lead singer Brian Briggs met Jon at an Oxford college in the mid-2000s.

Originally focusing on their post graduate courses, Brian decided to share some of his self-penned tunes to Jon, who also had a mutual like for folk music. The two got together and were joined by brothers Oli (bass) and Rob (drums) Steadman.

After a number of gigs at small clubs around the city, their first major taste of success was in March 2006, when a demo version of I Saw You Blink was played on BBC Oxford Introducing.

But it wasn't until 2009 when Stornoway became a well-known name.

They had sets at Radio 1's Big Weekend, Glastonbury and on Later...with Jools Holland, where they became the first unsigned band to appear on the show alongside Jay Z, Sting and The Foo Fighters.

Jon said: "We are proud of what we've done as a band, the gigs we've played and the albums and recordings we've made, but nowadays it just so happens that we're all leading very separate lives in different places now.

"Also, more to the point, we fundamentally loathe each other."

The concert will take place on Sunday, March 12 and tickets cost £22.15 to £27.15.

It starts at 7.30pm.

Expect some bad attitude at the O2

STOCKPORT-based band Dutch Uncles have continued with their tradition of releasing an album every two years.

Big Balloon, their fifth album in eight years, came out last month and they'll showcase the tunes at their debut gig at the O2 Academy on Wednesday, March 8 – their first gig in the city since their previous record, O Shudder, came out in 2015.

And with each album having a different sound, lead singer and pianist Duncan Wallis admitted he wasn't sure what genre his music is.

"That's your (the listener's) call to make," he said.

He added: "On the night, expect 18 slices of bad attitude. We're digging up some of the last few surprises from our back catalogue that have either gathered dust or never even been touched.

"So to anyone that's seen us in the last few years and feels familiar with some of our album tracks, there will even be something new for them too.

"On the whole though, we're trying to compliment the new record with our other choices and it's shaping up just lovely."

Tickets cost £11.25 and doors open at 6.30pm.

Isuzu D-Max Arctic Truck AT35

Isuzu pick-up takes it to D-Max

By Tony Yates

FOR this week's review – I have decided to do a bit of Arctic Exploring – because the car I am testing is the Isuzu D-Max Arctic pick-up truck which is a vehicle festooned with large wheels, Botox bodywork and an engine that would if required, move the Polar Ice-Caps.

So, to keep things simple, I will refrain from going to the North or South Pole and instead drive a truck that was designed to work in an extreme environment around the county of Staffordshire while blocking all the roads and causing total havoc as I try to park something the size of a 747 in a little town called Uttoxeter.

POWER AND EFFICIENCY

The D-Max is powered by a 2.5 litre twin turbo diesel engine that has 160PS and 400Nm of torque. I won't go into too much detail regarding performance – as the D-Max is not about performance – it's about being a workhorse. But for those of you who want to know; Max speed comes in around 111mph and on the combined cycle - I was able to achieve 38mpg.

ON THE ROAD

Here, I think we should focus mainly on the D-Max's off-road abilities – so I shall start with that. I have a friend who owns a farm – and he had kindly let me use some of its muddy paths to see how it would fair compared to his Land Rover. Well, I have to say – the D-Max was pretty faultless really. But then again, that's mainly thanks to those large wheels which help improve the ride height massively. That raised ride height also means it will pretty much clamber over anything in its path.

Also, I always take a pre set route that can sometimes take me up to 200miles away from my starting point which is a good test to find out how the vehicle faired on normal roads as well as motorways. Well, I am happy to say it did a great job, apart from those massive tyres' which do seem to make a lot of road noise. But, to be fair, the D-Max was actually a decent ride on normal roads. Although, the suspension was quite firm – but then I suppose it has to be because of what the D-Max was originally designed to do.

DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY

Inside was also kitted out very well, and here are some of the features you can expect to get as standard on the 'Arctic version' including; ABS + ESC, front, side & curtain airbags, height-adjustable front seatbelts, security-etched glass, Insurance-approved immobiliser, remote central locking, rear parking distance sensors, RDS radio/single CD with iPod®/USB/Bluetooth® connectivity, Six speakers which include 2 'Exciter' roof mounted speakers. Along with heated front screen, seats, steering wheel audio controls, cruise control and a Premium Black Leather Interior.

TO SUM UP

I really was impressed by the D-Max, yes it may look like a pick-up on Botox –but I'm telling you now – the D-Max is a decent buy.

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ... DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?

We can now offer R1234YF car air-con recharge and service

Wheatley CAR CENTRE

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 7th September 2016 we are able to offer R1234yf refrigerant re-gassing, or a car air-con recharge as sometimes known at our Wheatley Car Centre Branch.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 all be it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still refusing to use this, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the re-gassing service for cars using r1234yf. But due to the amount of cars we sell we have needed to be able have this service onsite so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common question is why the old, r134a gas found in most cars today, is being replaced?

It's driven by environmental concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, for ALL your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department, tel. 01865 874046 opt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Join us for a cup of tea and a chat at our

HSL your chair specialists

Recruitment Open Day

Thursday 9th March 10am-3pm

We're recruiting for Sales Assistants for our Oxford Comfort Store.

At HSL, making time for our customers is really important to us. We love nothing more than listening to them, understanding their needs and giving them the best possible advice.

No rushing, no jargon, no hard sell, just our unique 'people-friendly' approach to selling furniture.

We're a nationally-recognised brand, with 58 stores nationwide, and we're going from strength to strength. As a growing business there's plenty of opportunity to grow your career with us too. So why not join the HSL team here in Oxford?

We're recruiting for Sales Assistants for our HSL store in Oxford. Various shift patterns are available.

Is this you?

- You ideally (but not essentially) have retail experience.
- You have a belief in and an ability to offer advice and deliver no-pressure sales.
- You're passionate about customer service.
- You're a people person – and enjoy engaging with people of all ages and backgrounds.
- You work well as part of a team.
- You have a mature outlook on life.

You will...

- Help us create and maintain a successful retail store to the very highest standards.
- Receive extensive training to help focus on the customer's needs – plus expert guidance provided by Occupational Therapists together with continuous on-the-job development to ensure first-class customer service.
- Help us create a stimulating, helpful, enjoyable and knowledgeable store environment.

So if you're looking for a job in retail that's more about meeting people than delivering high-pressure sales, we'd love to meet you. Pop in-store for a chat between 10am and 3pm on Thursday 9th March

Holidays

Self-Catering Holiday Cottages overlooking the Beautiful Fowey River.

Cottages to sleep from 2 to 8 persons with stunning views.

If you have a cottage in this area and are thinking of holiday letting, please do get in touch. Alternatively if you have or are thinking of buying a second home in south east Cornwall but do not wish to rent it out and are worried because you are so far away, we will step in to help, making insurance checks or just to read the electric meter, giving you peace of mind someone is popping in to check the property.

Another missed cut for Pepperell in South Africa

Golf

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell is still waiting to make his first cut of the season after another disappointing result at the Joburg Open in South Africa.

He finished the tournament in a tie for 130th, after bad weather and flooding on Saturday saw the event reduced to just 54 holes.

In a very competitive field, Pepperell ended one under par for his two rounds, posting scores of 69 and 73.

The 26-year-old made a solid start to the tournament, with four birdies and two bogeys in his opening round putting him two under.

However his second round was much more topsy-turvy, with an eagle and two bogeys spoiled somewhat by five bogeys.

That left him on one under par, with four under the cut off point needed to make the final round's play.

So far this season Pepperell hasn't been able to break into the top-100 of the four tournaments he has played in, although his round one score of 69 at the Joburg Open was his first under 70 this year.

South African player Darren Fichardt was the overall winner on 15 under par, one shot ahead of England's Paul Waring and Welshman Stuart Manley.

Golf club tees off green credentials

Golf

BEST known as one of Oxfordshire's finest golf clubs, Frilford Heath now has another award to its name: Outstanding Environmental Project of the Year 2017.

The award, which is one of the categories under the 2017 Golf Environment Awards (GEA), was announced at the Hotel Du Vin, in Harrogate, in a ceremony hosted by the Sports Turf Research Institute (STRI) Group in January.

The course lies within Frilford Heath, Ponds and Fens's Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI).

A unique Oxfordshire habitat, Frilford Heath Golf Club amazed the judging panel with their fen restoration works at Boundary House Fen.

Neglected for many years, their efforts have seen the return of a number of fen indicator species including bog pimpernel, which is only found at a handful of sites in Oxfordshire.

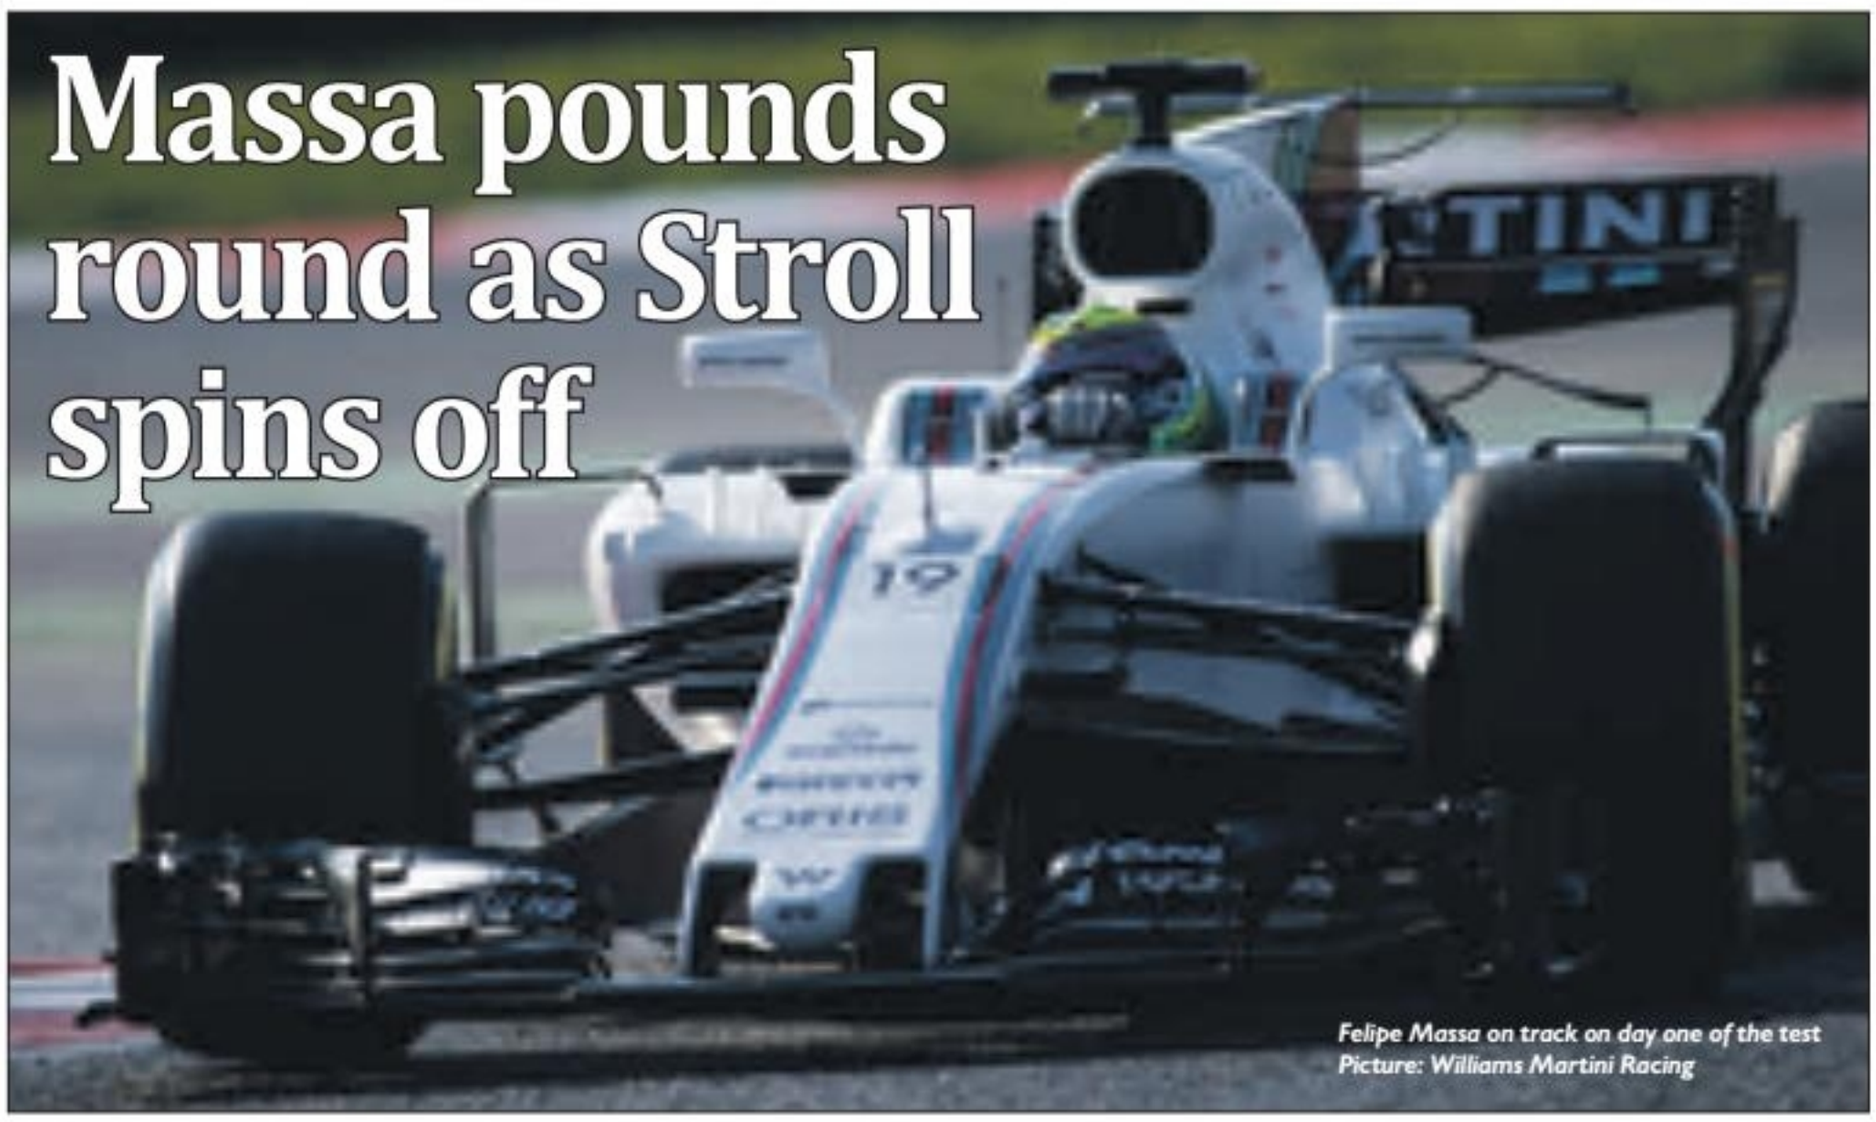
In partnership with Natural England, and with the help of Abingdon Green Gym volunteers, the green-keeping team have worked to enhance this nationally important habitat for the future of the SSSI.

Speaking about the award, company chairman Alistair Booth said: "We are delighted to receive recognition for our work with partners by winning this award.

"The fen restoration is just one of a series of activities undertaken at the golf course to enhance the rare habitat."

Oxfordshire's F1 teams get their first chance to try out

Massa pounds round as Stroll spins off



Felipe Massa on track on day one of the test
Picture: Williams Martini Racing

F1 - Williams

By Adam Flinn

WILLIAMS had a mixed start to pre-season testing as Felipe Massa produced some quick times on day one, while Lance Stroll spun off after just 12 laps on day two.

Massa pounded round the Spanish track of Catalunya on the first day of this week's test on Monday, notching up an impressive 103 laps – the second highest amount of any driver.

His time of 1:22.076 was the third fastest of the day, within three tenths of the best time set by Lewis Hamilton in the Mercedes.

Testing is notoriously unreliable in gauging how the cars are performing in comparison to each other, but both the team and Massa were happy after giving the FW40 its first proper run.

Massa said: "The first day of the test is always one where you hope everything on the car works well and that it's reliable, and with 103 laps on the board I'd say that wasn't bad at all.

"It's early to say where we are whilst we're still in this learning stage, but I'm really enjoying driving.

"Overall it was a great first day, which is really positive for the whole team.

"We completed more than 100 laps and I really hope we learn new things day by day and prepare ourselves as best as we can for the first race in Australia."

However it was a tougher day on Tuesday for Massa's rookie teammate Stroll, as an early spin into the gravel trap ended his running prematurely.

The 18-year-old Canadian was six laps into his second run during the morning and was caught out by low grip, sending his Williams barrelling backwards through the gravel.

He was able to recover to the pitlane, but the damage was such that the Grove-based team had to pull down the shutters early.

Rob Smedley, Williams' head of performance engineering, said: "Lance was on lap six of his second run when he had a spin.

"The grip was particularly low and so he spun and went through the gravel backwards.

"Even though the accident was entirely innocuous we've unfortunately had quite a bit of accident damage.

"We will be able to recover the programme in the coming days."

Stroll was back out on track yesterday to try and make up some last ground, with day three of the test continuing as The Oxford Paper went to press.

But despite his troubled start Stroll was optimistic about how things were going.

He said on day two: "It is still early days and I have only done a handful of laps.

"I am just getting to grips with the FW40, and there is still a lot of time ahead of us.

"It was good to finally get behind the wheel to just get a feel for it.

"I need to do a lot more running before I know exactly where I am and where the car is at, and I will have a much better picture once we have more laps under our belts.

"But it was good to break the ice and I am looking forward to some more running."

This week's test ends today, with the second test running from Tuesday to Friday next week, ahead of the first race of the season in Australia on March 26.

Smith gearing up for start of new season

MotoGP

OXFORD MotoGP racer Bradley Smith has been showing off his new bike for the coming season, as Red Bull KTM enter their first MotoGP campaign.

After representing Tech3 at both Moto2 and MotoGP since 2011, Smith, alongside his Yamaha teammate Pol Espargaro, have joined new team Red Bull KTM Factory Racing for their debut 2017 season.

And on Monday last week, the pair helped officially unveil their new KTM RC16 bikes at the new KTM Motorsports building in Munderfing, Austria.

It was rolled out at the end of October 2015 at the Red Bull Ring in Spielberg, Austria, and since then the team has conducted more than 50 test days on various GP circuits around the world.

And Smith can't wait to start chasing points with it.

The 26-year-old said: "This is something that you have always wished for and that you've worked for throughout your career.

"Finally, when you get the opportunity, there's the pressure that goes with it, but I certainly embrace the opportunity I have.

"Pol and I and all the team will be working incredibly hard.

"We've been busy with the winter tests, and this is just the beginning.

"I'm excited to see what 2017 brings."

Smith also confirmed that he is back to full fitness after injuring his leg last season, with the first GP of the new season taking place in Qatar on March 26.

Jolyon Palmer took to the track on Tuesday Picture: Renault Sport Formula One Team

Solid start for Renault

F1 - Renault

By Adam Flinn

RENAULT drivers Nico Hulkenberg and Jolyon Palmer each completed a half century of laps as they shared duties on the first two days of this week's pre-season test.

Hulkenberg got behind the wheel of the brand new RS17 on Monday, and chalked up 57 laps as the Enstone-based team ironed out the kinks.

The running was relatively trouble-free, although the team said they spent a bit longer in the garage than planned as modifications were made to the front brake ducts.

Hulkenberg, who has joined Renault for 2017, said: "It was an exciting first day with a new team and completely different type of Formula One car.

"It feels very different out on track with a lot of new aspects to discover as we're at the start of a steep learning curve.

"It wasn't the most trouble-free day, but it's been a good start in my new home."

Day two on Tuesday produced similar results, as Palmer managed to complete 53 laps after a late start to his running.

Renault weren't able to complete any laps in the morning as they were delayed waiting for parts.

However once they got going after lunch, there were only minor interruptions as Palmer completed a full programme.

"We had a productive afternoon with 53 laps," said Palmer.

"I've really enjoyed driving the car, it's completely different from last year and takes a little bit of getting used to but it's actually a lot more enjoyable to drive.

"It's just a shame not to have ran in the morning but we learnt a lot regardless."

Palmer and Hulkenberg were due to share running yesterday as The Oxford Paper went to press, with the test concluding today.

The second test runs from Tuesday to Friday next week.

Remi Taffin, Renault's engine technical director, said: "Everything we've seen from the power unit perspective has been positive, and we're looking forward to getting some bigger mileages under our belts in the coming days."

Magnussen happy with first days in new Haas

F1 - Haas

KEVIN Magnussen made a promising start to his Haas F1 career after giving the Banbury-based team's car its first run-out in the first pre-season test on Monday and Tuesday.

Day one saw him post the fourth quickest time of the session, while he completed a mammoth 118 laps on day two.

Magnussen, who has moved to Haas from Renault for this year, was one of the first drivers out on track on Monday and managed to complete a respectable 51 laps.

His time of 1:22.894 was good enough for fourth out of the 11 runners, just over a second behind the benchmark set by Lewis Hamilton in the Mercedes.

But the team would have been more satisfied with the amount of laps they notched up on Tuesday, with Magnussen completing the most out of any driver.

Once again he was fourth quickest with a 1:22.204, again around a second slower than the leading time set by Ferrari's Kimi Raikkonen.

"I got the most laps of anyone, so that sums up our day pretty well, with lots of running," said Magnussen.

"That's what it's all about here at winter testing. We want to put as many miles on the car as possible, to find all of these little problems that can creep up during the season, and catch them as early as possible.

"I'm very happy with the feeling I have in the car and in working with the team, it's been good to get back in a car again."

Romain Grosjean took over from Magnussen for day three yesterday, and is due to continue in the car today as the first test concludes.

'Learning experience' for Brize Norton

Alpine skiing

BRIZE Norton skier Jack Cunningham admits he will put the 2017 English Alpine Championships down as something of a learning curve after a mixed bag of results on the slopes.

Cunningham, 14, joined 400 of the country's most talented skiers at the Italian resort of Bormio to battle it out for the coveted English titles.

The championships celebrated their 10th year in Bormio with Cunningham, who lives on the RAF base, competing in the under-16 category.

The week did not get off to the best of starts as the Cheltenham College pupil failed to finish the first run of the Slalom race.

But he bounced back in the Giant Slalom, clocking the sixth best time before finishing 14th in the Super-G.

That was enough to see him finish as the 16th best British under-16 skier overall, with Cunningham keen to take the positives out of the week.

He said: "My week has been up and down. The Super G was okay, but I didn't ski it well. My GS and Slalom were okay, but could have been better."

Cunningham was not the only skier from the area in action last week with Oxford's Adrian Yung also competing in the under-14 category.

The 12-year-old Magdalen College School pupil was 20th in the slalom first up, 12th in the Giant Slalom and then 19th in the Super-G to finish as the 17th best British skier overall.

Youngsters tackle team spirit

Rugby – under 11s

CHIPPING Norton Rugby Club Under-11s might have missed out on appearing at the Aviva Premiership Rugby Final at Twickenham in May but starlet Tom Wilson still insists he experienced a memorable weekend at a rugby festival.

Wilson and Chipping Norton under-11s had been hoping to head to Twickenham on May 27 to meet an England 2003 Rugby World Cup winner and join in a Land Rover Premiership Rugby Cup Parade at half-time – but it wasn't to be, despite a strong performance at the Gloucester Rugby-organised festival.

Wilson and his team were one of more than 30 teams competing at the Land Rover Premiership Rugby Cup, a nationwide series for under-11 and under-12 teams, in Cheltenham on February 19.

"We passed quite a lot, we communicated well, we rucked over very well to get the ball and passed it out to our wingers to score the tries," said 11-year-old Wilson.

"I play rugby for fun and enjoy playing a game that is just wonderful. I do it because it widens my range of friendships, so I can make friends with people who aren't at the same school as me.

"I've developed my friendships today and we worked well as a team during the games."

Land Rover is a proud supporter of grassroots rugby and has been a partner of the Land Rover Premiership Rugby Cup for nearly a decade. Land Rover's 'We Deal In Real' campaign continues to champion grassroots rugby through Premiership Rugby and the Land Rover Premiership Rugby Cup.

New chairman for Thame

Cricket

THE chairman and vice-chairman have swapped positions in a shake up at the top for Thame Town Cricket Club.

The club announced the decision for Matt Swain (pictured) to replace Angus Lachlan as club chairman following its AGM on February 10.

Swain was unanimously elected for the top job after Lachlan announced he was standing down after a decade as chairman.

Lachlan said: "I have been privileged to hold the position of chairman for 10 years, succeeding acting chairman Rob Brooks following the untimely death of previous chairman John Fulkes in 2004.

"I have enjoyed my time immensely as the club has gone through huge changes in the last 10 years.

"We have grown the membership and club's finances year on year, culminating in the planning of our new clubhouse development which Matt, myself and the rest of the committee are taking forward."

New chairman Swain confirmed that a tender package for the clubhouse development would be ready in April.

On the day-to-day club matters he added: "We are lucky to have a stable and dedicated club committee to run our expanding activities.

"My priorities as chairman will be to continue to grow club membership and develop our close relationships with Thame's community, the town council, Lord Williams' School and the town's primary schools."

Oxford Gane a point after debut strike by Evie for home draw

OUWFC

UNITED picked up their first point of the WSL Spring Series after fighting out a 1-1 home draw against Brighton.

Having lost at home in their opener to Everton the yellows were keen to kickstart their campaign.

They made their intentions clear in the first five minutes as captain Lauren Haynes managed to find space before her shot drifted wide of the post.

Striker Ini Umotong thought she had put the U's 1-0 up in the 10th minute after a terrific delivery from a corner but the referee had already blown for a foul.

Umotong was also denied minutes later after being through on goal but was brought down by Albion defender Charlotte Young, who was given a rather lenient yellow card.

Midway through the first half Brighton enjoyed a spell of possession but the away side stood firm with some resolute defending.

Oxford's strong defence was undone in the 32nd minute as Bronwen Thomas struck past United keeper Demi Lambourne to make it 1-0 to the Seasiders.

In the 38th minute another chance fell to Umotong but she blasted over the bar.

The yellows started off the second half brightly and were very much in control of the ball. Again Umotong burst forward but was brought down, with the referee waving play on.

Twenty-five minutes from the end, Evie Gane made a dream debut by equalising for Oxford to secure the first point of the season.

United bid farewell to 'terrific servant'

LOYAL coach Richard Blackmore has left Oxford United's coaching set-up after nearly two decades at the club.

The long-serving Blackmore, pictured right, stepped down last week after 17 years with the U's.

He left the club immediately from his most recent role as general manager at the academy.

United said he "has been a terrific servant of the club" and "will be much missed by everyone behind the scenes".

Over the years Blackmore has held a variety of roles at United, from coach to women's manager.

He told the club website: "I have loved my time at the club and it has been a massive part of my life for so long, but I feel the time is right to move on and find a new challenge.

"I am privileged to have met so many fantastic people along the way and am particularly proud of the work we have done to develop the women's team and the pathway for talented young footballers to make their way all the way to the first team.

"I'd like to thank everyone for their help and friendship over the years and wish the club well for the future."

U's chairman Darryl Eales paid his own tribute, saying: "Richard has worked extremely hard behind the scenes and we are going to miss him.

"On behalf of everyone at the club we thank him for everything he has done and wish him well in whatever he chooses to do next.

"He remains a true friend of the club and is welcome back anytime."

Sky to show Wanderers clash

THE Sky Sports cameras will roll up to the Kassam later this month as Oxford United's Sky Bet League 1 home game against Bolton Wanderers has been selected for TV.

There is no change to the date, with the game still being played on Tuesday, March 21, or to kick-off, which remains at 7.45pm.

Michael Appleton's side returned from Bolton in October with maximum points following an impressive 2-0 win.

Chris Maguire and the now-injured Wes Thomas found the back of the net that day.

The game is the second time the Sky cameras have visited the U's this season, after October's 3-1 defeat to AFC Wimbledon.

Tickets are also now on sale for United's trip to Oldham on Tuesday, March 14.

Get tickets for both games at oufctickets.co.uk or 01865 337533.

Didcot go off the rails again as hunt goes on for first win of 2017

Didcot Town

DIDCOT Town are still without their first league win of 2017 after they went down 2-1 at AFC Totton on Saturday.

Their hosts, who sit four places below The Railwaymen, started the brighter of the two and were rewarded with a penalty for handball in the 12th minute.

Totton striker Nathaniel Sherborne stepped up, initially missing from the spot but following up from the rebound to fire the home side in front.

Totton continued to threaten, but George Jeacock made it 1-1 with a low shot from distance that goalkeeper Charlie Seattle was unable to keep out.

The sides went into the break all square. Just after the hour mark Charlie Gibson fired home past Didcot keeper Leigh Bedwell to give Totton a 2-1 lead. Didcot pushed for an equaliser with Callum McNish and Ben Whitehead going close but they were unable to prevent the visitors slipping to an eighth game without a win.

United lose game of Ardley any chances

Ardley United

ARDLEY United succumbed to their first league defeat in five games as they went down 1-0 at home to Lydney Town on Saturday.

In a game of few chances, the first half was one to forget – littered with poor play and a whistle that blew at every challenge.

It took until the 24th minute for any real threat of a goal when a quick Lydney throw saw Lewis Bamford in behind the home defence, but as he looked to shoot a blue shirt got across to block and the chance was gone.

Seconds after the restart the home side started brightly as a Jack Ross pass found Leam Howards but he miskicked his shot.

Ardley continued to dominate, enjoying plenty of possession.

But Lydney's solid defending was rewarded with a penalty 11 minutes from time.

Declan Morley-Lyne fired home from the spot to make it 1-0.

Earlier on, Ardley felt they should have been awarded a penalty when Cruise went down in the box but the referee judged it to be just outside.

Ardley remain sixth in the table and they visit league leaders Brackwell next weekend.

Tuesday's Supplementary Cup game with Letcombe was postponed.

An in-Spired performance

By George Scotland

OXFORD United moved within four points of the League One play-offs after thrashing Chesterfield 4-0 on the road on Saturday.

On-loan Everton striker Conor McAleny scored two unbelievable goals before completing a hat-trick in the second half as the City of Dreaming Spires showed their class over the relegation threatened Spireites.

The Yellows, like much of their performances this season, showed great energy from the start with wingers Chris Maguire and Rob Hall terrorising the Chesterfield defence.

And it was Hall who fired Oxford in-front after West Ham loanee Toni Martinez made a smart run before storming into the box to square the ball for his team mate, who scored with his first touch.

Chesterfield had only really had two good chances in the first 45 when Simon Eastwood made a good save to keep out Kristian Dennis's effort.

Shortly afterwards, former Championship heavyweight Sylvan Ebanks-Blake was unlucky with a snap shot on the turn that flew straight over the bar.

Just before the break, Liam Sercombe moved forward at pace and then found McAleny, who only joined Oxford last month.

He turned on the style with brilliant technique to smash home a bouncing ball into the top left corner to give them a comfortable 2-0 lead.

Oxford continued to dominate at the Proact Stadium way into the second half but Chesterfield, desperate for points at the bottom of the table, started to throw men forward.

By the 60th minute, 24-year-old McAleny scored his second as the Chesterfield back four failed to close him down. At 3-0 there was no coming back for the home side.

Less than 10 minutes later, Martinez added his name to the list of Oxford United hat-trick heroes as he coolly planted the ball home, assisted by Sercombe.

It could have been worse for Chesterfield.

Maguire and Martinez both had one on one chances before the end but, regardless, 900 away fans went back to Oxford proud after a triumphant victory.

This weekend United are back at the Kassam taking on Bristol Rovers.

Ruffels signs new contract to 2018

AFTER the great result at the weekend there was more good news for United with midfielder Josh Ruffels signing a new contract until June 2018.

The 23-year-old, whose contract was due to expire this year has made 19 appearances for Oxford so far, scoring one goal.

The midfielder has been described by head coach Michael Appleton as 'a trusted member' of the squad but has only made one league appearance since October featuring in the 4-0 thrashing away to Chesterfield on Saturday.

Appleton praised Ruffels in December as a 'diamond' and is glad to have kept him for two more years, recently saying he was an integral part of the squad.

Despite his limited starts for the club this season, the former Coventry City trainee never gave serious consideration to turning down Oxford.

He said: "I've been really happy here. My game time has been limited and the thought of going out on loan was in my mind but I think I've made the right decision now."

Before signing a new contract, the former Kidlington schoolboy had been at the club four years joining in June 2013 on a free transfer.
